Supporting Teachers' Success

Echoes and Reflections professional development programs and classroom-ready content can help prepare teachers with the historical background, primary and secondary resources, and teaching methodology to effectively teach about the Holocaust.

Demonstrates Effective Teaching
Maps, photographs, diary entries, and video testimony from Holocaust survivors and other witnesses are aligned with modular, interdisciplinary lessons.

Proven Effective
A 2013 study of Echoes and Reflections found that educators praised the versatility of Echoes and Reflections and its positive outcomes for students.

For more information and to register contact
Jo Monahan
(940) 565-3955
Jo.Monahan@unt.edu

The presenter Kim Klett teaches A.P. English Literature and Composition and Holocaust Literature at Dobson High School in Mesa, Arizona.
Kim is a member of USHMM's Regional Education Corps.